

Lincoln's
command of
poetic technique
is particularly clear in this passage.

Our *f*athers
brought *f*orth
upon this continent
a *n*ew *n*ation.

In his first
sentence, Lincoln
alliterated four,
fathers, and forth,
as well as new and
nation.